ジャック

JAKKU accentuates the advancement of craftsmanship and Japanese approach to modern minimalism design on door handle.

JAKKU holds a distinguish meaning: as a part of one's personality to deliver an impeccable life experience in a space

Lever [Jakku] is proven as the simplest mechanism in the world, consisting of a rigid rod pivot at a fixed hinge, ever since Renaissance era.

Allowing maximum load with minimum effort.

Crafted in Tokushima Prefecture and anodized in Osaka, Jakku is ready to enrich one's experience.

Japan minimalist design-inspired Jakku is designed by Eko Priharseno from AEDI Interior Design and produced by Union Corporation
Japan (Elmes).

Creativity is unstoppable, even in the midst of peak uncertainty of COVID-19 epidemic.

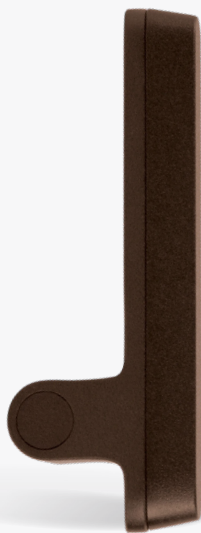

With the help of technology, Habitus Concept, AEDI Interior Design and Elmes Japan coordinate through numerous remote video conference calls and by-air sample shipments.

Considering comfort grip and long lasting aspect, JAKKU is developed with signature aluminum anodized material. To enhance personalization, JAKKU carries five contrasting color combination and various range of wood finishing.

By this, JAKKU opens another door to personal creation in designing a living space
